

39 Vegan Super Bowl Recipe Ideas That Will Score A Touchdown With Everyone

As someone who's not personally big on football (I'm sorry, I'm sorry), the best part of The Super Bowl to me is obviously the company, the commercials, and the food. But if you're hosting a Super Bowl party this year and are either vegan yourself or hosting vegan guests, you might be wondering what to put out besides chips and salsa. Fret not — there are tons of delicious vegan Super Bowl recipe ideas to choose from, from appetizers, to mains, to booze and desserts.

In compiling this list, I tried to include lots of traditional Super Bowl staples, made vegan — queso dip, wings, nachos, pizza — as well as some more unique recipe ideas for your Super Bowl party. Also featured are several recipes where you have a chance to showcase your team's colors — an easy way to Super Bowl-ize many recipes.

Whether you're partial to all the fried and cheesy dishes demanded of the day, or you just want to make sure to bring a dish or two to a party you can snack on for hours without feeling like junk after, I've got you covered. Here are 39 Vegan Super Bowl recipes for 2017 that should score a touchdown with everyone in the group.

Cheesy Queso Dip

SOURCE: Daiya

I always thought queso dip was a little funky, but I definitely understand the appeal. This recipe from Daiya ensures the cheese-lovers in your group won't have to go without.

Spinach & Artichoke Dip

SOURCE: Daiya

Another Super Bowl staple, this spinach & artichoke dip by Daiya will please the traditionalists among you.

Jackfruit Philly Cheesesteaks

SOURCE: Daiya

Another one for the traditionalists, jackfruit can be made oddly resemblant to meat. This recipe by Daiya teaches you how to do it.

Cheesecake-Stuffed Strawberries

SOURCE: Daiya

A dessert that's sneaky in how healthy and easy it is, this recipe by Daiya will insure you don't need plates for dessert.

1/26/17