

Daiya Deluxe Cheeze Sauce

Getting your comfort food fix as a vegan can be a bit of a challenge. And what's the number one comfort food most of us are missing? Cheese!

I dried Daiya's new Cheddar Style Deluxe Cheeze Sauce and was amazed! This stuff is seriously tasty. It looks and tastes just like dairy cheese sauce, so much so that I'm betting it would fool even non-vegans.

I drizzled the sauce over some steamed veggies, but it would be perfect for dipping chips, dressing pasta, or even, ahem, eating with a spoon (not that I did that or anything!). And of course, if you're ever in the mood for a big plate of vegan nachos, this sauce is where it's at.

Almost as great as the taste is the fact that there's no prep work required: the sauce comes fully prepared in sealed packets. I stuck a packet in a cup of hot water for a few minutes and it was ready to go.

Daiya's Deluxe Cheeze Sauce is also available in Alfredo style. Dairy-free fettuccine Alfredo that's ready in minutes? Yes, please!
